

ContextHQ Test Document 2

This document is about database systems.

Databases are used to store, organize, and retrieve structured data.

SQL is commonly used to interact with relational databases.

This document is intentionally different from the first ContextHQ test document.